SOCIAL JUSTICE SOCIAL ACTION

By Susan Tabor

Social Concerns for Peace and Justice Committee

How long, O LORD, must I cry for help and you do not listen? Or cry out to you, "Violence!" and you do not intervene? Why do you let me see iniquity? Why do you simply gaze at evil? Destruction and violence are before me; there is strife and discord. (Habakkuk 1, 2-3)

My dear St. John Family:

I write to you this weekend during which we commemorate Flag Day in our country about an issue that tears at my heart, about which I lament; that issue is racism. I want to share with you part of my journey of coming to terms with the issue of racism as a white woman in America.

I have been brought to tears by the repetitive ripping open of the racism wound in this country, especially when done so by what appear to be careless actions of people we should trust; law enforcement officers and public officials.

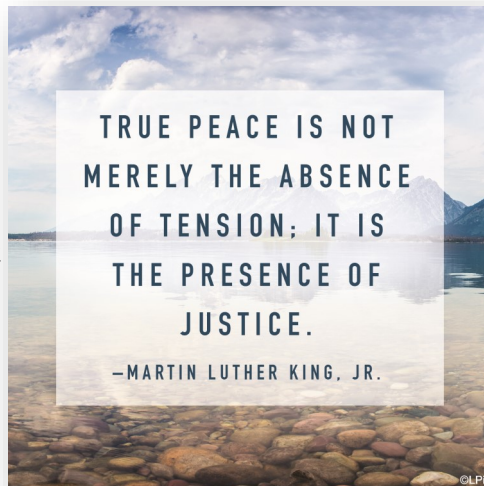

I will be the first to admit, not proudly, that I carry un-conscious racial bias with me every day of my life; bias that has malformed by experience and understanding of ethnic minorities, in particular. And for this I am sorry. To the extent that I am becoming aware of this bias, I am working to transcend it and to remove it from consideration when I think or act in a situation involving a brother or sister of color.

We have all been a part of a culture that teaches us, actively and passively, about assumptions to live by and act upon in our daily lives. And we all make our choices based on what we feel should be part of our value system or not. Though I struggle and grow in my awareness of un-conscious or pre-conscious racial bias and its presence in my life, I do this while knowing at the same time that racism is wrong, and something that I must and will take the responsibility to help eradicate.

Anger and conflict are both difficult for me personally. Thus, one of the hardest things for me to come to terms with fully in my understanding of racism has been the anger of my brothers and sisters. Oh, I understand why they have it; intellectually. But if I want to move into a transformative love, into compassion, I must be able to sit with that anger and hear it, really hear it to the point that I too feel it. Then I can actually identify with, have compassion for and be with my brother or sister in their pain. And only then can it be possible to move beyond that pain and anger into freedom. Accompanying our brothers and sisters through their pain is a basic Christian practice and expectation that has stayed with us through the centuries, since at least the days that Jesus asked his disciples to accompany him to Gethsemane.

I have also come to understand that racism is not merely a political issue. It is a moral issue, a justice issue, a life issue and a faith issue. And I have come to see that racism is morally wrong. Until all lives are valued equally can we have justice and truly demonstrate respect for the dignity of each human person. All lives can matter only if and when those of OUR poor and marginalized are valued equally and when everyone, yes everyone, is treated with the same level of dignity and respect, interpersonally, sociologically and culturally; and yes, it's true also from the lens of faith. As Jamie Manson of National Catholic Reporter says, "Saying Black Lives Matter is no different from Catholics saying we have a preferential option for the poor. That is, God dwells with those who suffer most and we must take better care of them than we take of ourselves. If we can go to the border and care for brutalized immigrants, we must go to the protest line and fight for justice for black people. Both communities are suffering from the same entrenched, racialized myth that people of color are not fully human."

Jesus taught: "Love one another", not, love people if they look like me or sound like me or act like me. Jesus asked us to love everyone; this means everyone; good or bad, friend or foe. We are all human beings, capable of sin and also redemption.

My journey with racial justice has been heavily influenced by Scripture, by the life and teachings of Dr. Martin Luther King, by the life of my Uncle Bill Albright who spent his summers as a Church of the Brethren pastor making sure that African-American people could safely and justly vote, by Franciscan thought and recently by Father Bryan Massingale, an acclaimed African-American Jesuit theologian. I recommend his book, Racial Justice and the Catholic Church: Massingale, Bryan N.: 9781570757761.

I know that the work of creating a fair and just world is long and difficult. But if Jesus can live, then die on the Cross, then rise again for the love of humankind, then perhaps I can stay the course and do what is mine to do in making the world a better, more peace-filled place.

Come, Holy Spirit, to help us! Animate us in our work to create a loving, just and peace-filled world and a world that values and builds interracial solidarity, so that we can truly learn and experience the love you call us to cultivate and experience and share. Help us to know and understand that we are all connected. Everyone is us.

MEDITACIÓN DEL EVANGELIO- EL CUERPO Y LA SANGRE DE CRISTO

El Cuerpo y la Sangre de Cristo es un signo de unidad y es un alimento salvífico. Muy diferente al pan que bajaba del cielo para alimentar a los hebreos por su paso en el desierto. Quien come el Cuerpo y la Sangre de Cristo vivirá para siempre. "Yo soy el pan vivo que ha bajado del cielo. El que coma de este pan vivirá para siempre". (Juan 6:51). Las lecturas de hoy invitan al creyente a despertar a este hermoso regalo de Jesús en la Eucaristía. Apreciar su presencia viva al recibirlo sabiendo que es el único medio indispensable de participación de lo divino. No cabe la menor duda, lo necesitamos para la jornada de fe.

"Ver que diariamente se humilla, como cuando desde el trono real descendió al seno de la Virgen; diariamente viene a nosotros. Él mismo en humilde apariencia; diariamente desciende del seno del Padre hasta el altar en manos del sacerdote. Y como mostró a los santos apóstoles en carne verdadera, así también ahora se nos muestra a nosotros en el pan consagrado. Y lo mismo que ellos, con la vista corporal, veían solamente carne; pero, con los ojos que contemplan espiritualmente, creían que Él era Dios. Así también nosotros, al ver con los ojos corporales el pan y el vino, veamos y creamos firmemente que es su santísimo cuerpo y sangre vivos y verdaderos". (Francisco y Clara de Asís Admoniciones 1,16-21). La generosidad de Dios no tiene límite en la Eucaristía, por lo tanto, cabe la siguiente pregunta. Si comulgo frecuentemente, ¿Cómo es mi generosidad para con los demás?

FOCUS ON THE WORD

UNDERSTANDING OF SCRIPTURE

The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ

It is no wonder that followers of Christ are called the Body of Christ. After all, sharing in the same spiritual food and sacred meal, they become what they eat and reveal the Divine Image. There is so much power for healing in the community of believers. Through the Eucharist, Christ becomes as present in those who have partaken of his Body and Blood as he has the elements themselves. The very presence of God touches the depths of the human soul and visits a part of us that no human being can ever hope to explore. We are God's. The sacred Eucharistic meal is a celebration of intimacy, the reunion of two loves in constant search of and longing for the other.

The community of believers receives the power and the presence to touch and heal in the name of the One they have welcomed within. It is now within their grasp to change the way life is lived and to more intentionally put into practice the Beatitudes that the Divine Guest has revealed. We are asked to be like Christ and work to create a world of sufficiency, where the greed of some no longer creates the want of others but where all of God's children can find a home and a place at the table of life. The One who makes a home within calls us to live a life that transforms. We are changed ourselves and now become agents of change for others. We are the Body of Christ. God is with us. We have been nourished.

Sadly, many are afraid to try. We know what we are called to do, but we struggle with feelings of doubt as to whether God really is the Way, the Truth, and the Life. Do our systems have to change? Is it possible that we somehow missed the mark when we put all of our social networks in place and established the business of our lives? Perhaps we have to radically rethink our approach and that can scare us. We might have to give something up or change, and we don't want to. As long as want, injustice, division, prejudice, and scarcity still exist, there is tremendous work for the Body of Christ.

RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

The Heart of Stewardship

What else is there to give when one has already given away one's body and one's life? What more can one say or do to demonstrate love for another when all one had has been given to another? This total giving of self to loved ones cannot be trumped by flowery words or material gifts that are fleeting. This is the ultimate in love. This is the love Jesus had for us on the way to his Passion, at the institution of the Holy Eucharist. This is the love he has for us daily in the celebration of the Mass on altars in every church, in every city, in every nation on earth. No one can give more. No one can ask for more. This is the true heart of Christian stewardship.

If you take the time to gaze upon your God in the simplest of forms and begin to reflect on what has actually taken place with bread and wine becoming the presence of the Divine, then you can begin to understand true humility, sacrifice, and love. And when you have the privilege to take that Real Presence into your body at the meal where you are an honored guest, you become one with the One who is the embodiment of stewardship.

Then, you must ask yourself, "How can I even begin to reflect the love that I have encountered at this feast?" The answer is you can begin with the simple actions of the day: where will you go, whom will you meet, and in what work will you partake? Jesus Christ has shown that the greatest gift ever given can be disguised in this world in a piece of bread. By joining your body to his, he can now transform human hearts, not by grand acts, but by everyday acts, by everyday people, practicing Everyday Stewardship.

BCYC VIRTUAL enc-ounter

Youth Ministers,

With camps, conferences and mission trips being canceled, we know this summer is going to look different from any other. Despite the challenges of COVID-19, we are still committed to transforming lives in Christ! This summer, July 10-12, we will be offering BCYC Virtual Encounter so that you can host a life-changing conference for your teens right at your own Parish!

Although the format will look a little bit different, we are committed to have the Benedictine Charisms of Community, Stability and Simplicity at the heart of our conference, and to focus on the needs of Gen Z. This was true for our regular in-person experience and will hold true for BCYC Virtual Encounter as well!

Our keynote speakers this year will also remain the same! We are excited to be joined by Sr. Bethany Madonna, Noelle Garcia and Mark Bocinsky! Of course the Monks of St. Benedict's Abbey will be with us as well, and our BCYC Missionaries will be here giving testimonies, leading activities, and supporting parishes remotely!

Sr. Bethany Madonna

Noelle Garcia

Mark Bocinsky

When you register for BCYC Virtual Encounter, we will provide all the content you need to host your own life-changing youth conference in your own Parish! Our vision is for you to build community among your teens right at home. We will stream all sessions for you and your group to watch live (or you can watch them after they air to allow for more flexibility), send your leaders small group questions for each session, provide printable booklets for your teens for the weekend, and more! We would love to talk with you about registering your group for BCYC Virtual Encounter. Please check out our website to see the schedule and find details of how the virtual conference will work. If you have any questions, please reach out to us!
